

THINGS WE LOVE

From bronze frogs and copper chandeliers to marble coasters and cowboy boots, WA&A editors pick their favorites

Coppered Antler Chandelier from Metro Cowboy Lighting

For a cowboy look that is, well, just a little more metro, a little more sexy, Metro Cowboy Lighting creates these antler chandeliers dipped in a luscious array of rich colors and sumptuous metals. The chandeliers are lightweight because the antlers are actually hollow cast reproductions. Each piece is custom-designed and hand-dipped to highlight its unique beauty. We love that the chandeliers can be delicate or massive, and dipped to reflect the mood of any room. But it's the metals — the rusty iron, the antique copper, the flashy chrome, among others — that truly thrill us.

Buffalo Leather Appliqué Chair from Scenic Mesa: The Buffalo Collection

When botanist Julie Littlefield acquired 8,200 acres of land along Colorado's Gunnison River, she never imagined that her dream ranch would lead her to create a line of high-end furniture. But the big-game hunting she offered on her Scenic Mesa Ranch left her with stacks of bison hides she couldn't bear to see go unused. So she founded The Buffalo Collection, and with it a line of luxurious and durable bison-leather furniture, handcrafted by local artisans. From its classic, masculine sofas to its delicate and decorative antique slip chairs, The Buffalo Collection appeals to cowboys and connoisseurs alike. We are wild for the graceful curves of the Buffalo Leather Appliqué Chair. We also love the newest addition: the rich chocolate leather of the Virginia Reel Headboard, with its braided welting and subtle floral appliqué. Sweet dreams indeed!

Banovich Italian Marbled Coasters from Home Accents

Beyond being useful in protecting your favorite table from pesky moisture rings, these hand-printed and limited-edition coasters are stunning. Each Italian marble tile is quarried, cut and tumbled in Europe to create an Old World look and feel. But it's Banovich's images that captivate us most. That he is able to reproduce the intimacy and power of his oil and acrylic works on small pieces of marble is simply staggering. And if the aesthetic were not enough (and it is!), the proceeds of these practical and miniature masterpieces will benefit his Wildscapes
